Who We Are

Kent has long been considered a leader in human services in South King County. The City has been funding nonprofit human services agencies to provide service to its residents since 1974

Guide to Services

This resource guide was developed to give the citizens of Kent, WA a list of agencies working to serve the Human Service needs in this community.

For additional resources and the most up-to-date information, or if you unsure who to contact, please dial '2-1-1' and access the Crisis Connections Call Center.

Human Services Commission

The Human Services Commission is an appointed body of citizens and is charged with recommending human services funding allocations and human services related policy. The commission is responsible for ensuring that agencies effectively deliver services and that a continuum of services are available in our community.

For more information, please call:
City of Kent Human Services at
